

Associate Counsellor/Therapist — Ad Hoc, Self-Employed

Organisation: The Town Practice

Location: Online

Contract type: Self-employed, ad hoc

Rate: £50 per completed session; £20 for a DNA (did not attend) appointment

We are seeking qualified and experienced counsellors or therapists to provide online counselling and therapy to employees within a Christian organisation, as and when sessions become available.

This is a flexible associate role suited to therapists who are able to offer additional hours alongside their existing practice and who are comfortable working within an Integrative and Relational framework.

Requirements

Applicants must:

- Be a practising Christian and competent in working with faith in counselling
- Hold a relevant counselling or psychotherapy qualification at diploma level or above.
- Be accredited or registered with ACC or equivalent.
- Have experience delivering brief therapy or time-limited interventions.
- Have their own professional indemnity and public liability insurance.
- Be experienced in providing counselling online.
- Be able to work professionally and confidentially with employees in an organisational setting.
- Have availability to accept additional client hours when work becomes available.
- Be empathetic to, or comfortable working within a Christian organisational context.
- Be willing to have their profile picture and bio (no more than 300 words) added to The Town Practice website

What we offer

- Flexible, ad hoc online counselling work.
- A fee of £50 per completed session.

- A payment of £20 for a DNA appointment.
- Clinical supervision for clients referred through the service.
- The opportunity to support staff wellbeing within a Christian organisation.

This is a self-employed associate arrangement and does not guarantee a fixed number of hours. Sessions will be offered according to organisational demand and therapist availability.

How to apply

If you are interested, please email fiona.b@thetownp.com to express your interest and attach your current CV. Please include details of your qualifications, professional registration or accreditation, indemnity insurance, relevant Integrative and Relational experience and current availability.
